

Corvette Class Starships

Back to These Are The Voyages or LUPOS

While the small Cutter and Monitor classes are fast and gun heavy ships, the Corvette is clearly the king of this range of ships. Its still too small to be considered a Capital ship, but is edging in on it, with the next class up taking that prize (the Frigate). These ships can be rigged for any range (meaning they may have enough backups to support long travel without service), but most often are medium range and capable of travelling a couple months without service of any kind or supplies. A corvette rigged for long range will lose a point of capacity, and one rigged for short range will gain a point of capacity.
