

General Power Type Notes

Carried Powers

A carried power does damage only if the attack carrying it not only hits, but does damage. For instance, a poison dart has to not only hit it's target, but manage to penetrate armor and hide before the poison can be delivered.

Starting Pets

Like some roguelike games, a player may begin play with a cat or small dog as a pet. This costs 2 AP.

Spells

To cast a spell, the Adventurer must make an Spellcraft roll vs a DR based on the spell's difficulty. Spells always cost fatigue to cast, and this cost is payed whether or not the casting was successful. Failure to cast a spell successfully results in 1 Magic Burnout trait level per full -5 MOS. Magic Burnout penalizes Arcane Lore rolls.

Few spells are halted by armor or the like, going up against raw defense ratings. Spell effects, even fully realized Transforms, may be dispelled, upon which the target reverts to normal.

Spell Conversions

Spell Familiarity

A player may elect to take a familiarity with a spell, as though it were a bit of equipment (using the cost for familiarities if taken during adventurer construction). This should be noted in the stat block of the spell power itself.

School Adherence

An adventurer who takes all spells from the same school gets a reduction in price of one AP for each spell. An adventurer who takes spells from multiple class lists has to pay one extra per spell.

Raise Dead

- Time: 1 Day
- Area of Effect: one dead guy
- Effect: Eliminates the "Dead" trait. The deceased comes back with Con reduced by one (which may cause them to come back incapacitated), and with a 4 Weakness. Normal poisons and diseases are cured, but magical ones are not, and the character may theoretically just die once more. Spell doesn't work on a character who has been dead for more than 10 days. The player has to be willing for their character to come back for this to work, otherwise they stay blissfully in the otherworld of their death.

- Fatigue: 8

AP Cost: 20
